Whether you are a student, a teacher or staff member at Kinross College, we are a community together.

As students we believe that everyone has the right to a positive, happy and engaging educational experience at our College.

Every member of this community should be able to learn, teach, work and belong, free from any negativity that may impact this time in our lives.

As a collective group of students we would like to voice our opinions and have them heard.

We all believe that students who consistently display acts of aggression, negativity, anti-social behaviour or disrupt the education and enjoyment of others are not, by their own behaviours, part of our community.

As students here we ask all students to either accept this creed, or find an alternative place to be educated, as our education here is important to us as it affects our well-being now, and our future opportunities.

The image we wish to portray to the community isn’t decided by the teachers, or our parents, it is created by all of us, the students, who wear our uniform. As a student at Kinross College, we must all strive to promote a positive image at school and within the community. This means taking pride in your school, your education and within yourself at all times.

Students who cannot, or will not comply with these basic rights for all, need to be dealt with accordingly by the staff at Kinross College. They have the complete support of the wider student body. We also ask the school board consisting of teachers, administration and parents to fully support the Creed.

By signing this creed you are agreeing to these ideals and will support this with positive action/s.
